NEW AND MOST VALUABLE MEDICINES
For hitherto intractable and incurable diseases.

No more Cod Liver Oil.

GRIMAULT SYRUP OF IODIZED HORSE
EADISH.

Prepared by Grimsuit and Co., Chemistic of Peris, seconding to the certificates of the physicians of the Paris heapitals, detailed in the printed directions, and with the approbation of several academies, this Syrup is employed with the greatest success, in piace of Cod Liver Oil, to which it is infinitely superior. It cause diseases of the thort, scratchis, tymphatic discribers, grean sickness, sunsquier alony, and loss of appetite. It regenerates the constities chert, screenis, tymphatic disorders, green sickness, masspiler stony, and loss of appetite. It regenerates the constitution by purifying the blood, and is, in a word, the meat powerful deparative known. It sever intigues the stonach and lowels like Icelide of Petansium and the Icelide of Iron, and is administered with the greatest efficacy to young children subject to humours or obstruction of the glands. By. Casemave of Saint Louis Hospital, Paris, recommends it particularly in disease of the skin, to be taken with his Pills mentioned above. This Syrup of Icelined Horse Radies is a capital adjunct to Dr. Levas's Phosphate of Iron.

of Iron.

DE. BURIN DU BUISSON'S DIGESTIVE LOZUNGES AND POWDERS OF THE ALKALINE LACTATES.

The slakeline lentaine sucreise the most beneficial influence over the derangements of digestion, either by their peculiar action on the mucous membrane of the stomach, or by sflording to the latter through their combination with the saliva to the gastric juice, a supply of lackie acid which all English, Franch, and other physiologists admit to be an essential principle of digestion. For the information of those who may be without medical advice, it may be attactioned that the symptoms of impaired digestion are—Headsche, pain in the forehead, henicrania, gastrifits, gastraigts, beartburn, wind in the stomach and bowels, loss of appetite, emaciation, &c. All these soon disappear under the attion of the Alksine Lactates, which may be always had in lozenges or powers, of the blood and pale complexion.

No more poverty of the blood and pale complexion. DR. LERAS'S PHOSPHATE OF IRON.

No more poverty of the blood and pale complexion.

DR. LERAS'S PHOSPHATE OF IRON.

This new ferrugineus medicine contains the elements of the blood and bones, and iron in a liquid state. It is different from all hitherto offered to the public, is liquid, colourieus, and tastelass. It speedily curse chlorods, panns in the stomach, difficult digrestion, dynamorrhous, anemia, and advantageously supersedes Carbonate of Iron, Iron reduced by Hodrogen, Lactate of Iron, the Pills of Potassicative and Iron and Iodide of Iron.

The majority of the Academies of Medicine of Paris, recommend the Phosphate of Iron to ladice of delicate constitution suffering from anemia, and all other persons fatigued from over anxiety, nerveus emotions, overwork, general debility, and postness of blood.

It is the only preparation which never causes constitution, and can be borne by the next delicate stomacha. It is the best adjunct to the Syrup of Iodized Horseradish and Royal Elixir of Vellow Fernican Bark.

DR. CAZENAVES VEGETABLE PILLS.

Superior to all other pills. A trial would be their best recommendation. Whenever a purgative is required for billious and pituitous sattacks, these may be salely assed, because they came matther names nor colic, and may be takpu as digrestives at meal or bed these.

From its richness in parafline or carbon, it is perfectly free from its richness in parafline or carbon, it is perfectly free from its richness in parafline or carbon, it is perfectly free from its richness in parafline or carbon, it is perfectly free from the disagreeable semil attending the imported offs.

A prejudice has arisen against "Colontal" Kerosome Oil, in consequence of a very inferior article being sold under this name; it is, therefore, necessary that the purchaser should be able to ussure himself that what he obtains is the granuine "Hartley" Oil.

For this purpose, a trade mark, A STAR, has been adopted and registered; it will be affixed in brase on each tin, and any party forging it will be guilty of a misdemeanour. The Company would, therefore, feel particularly obliged by any person having a bed article sumplied to them, as "Hartley" Oil, sending it to the Depot in order that they may prescente offending parties.

They have opened a Depot for its sale at 477, GEORGE-STREET, three doors south of Bathurst-street, and appointed hir. R. NOTT their agent, to whom orders may be now addressed, for large or small quantities.

To give all an opportunity of obtaining it as produced from the works it will be sold from the Depot at present at FOCK SHILLINGS PER GALLON, the wholessle price of the imported article. The time omiting the subject of the allows of the subject of the subject

FROM Остокия 26ги то NOVEMBER 30ти.

Friday, 26th October, to 2nd November

Friday, 26th October, to 2nd November. On as previous occasion have the natural and industrial resources of New South Wales been displayed to so much advantage as they are at present at the Exhibition at Melbourne, and will be at the forthcoming Great Exhibition at Paris in 1867.

Several hundreds of able-bodied men assembled on the 26th October, in front of the Legislative Assembly. Their object was to get a petition presented to the Assembly, praying that their case might be taken into consideration; but there was no quorum.

The presentation of prizes to the students of Saint John's College, who had attained the greatest amount of proficiency in theology and logic, took place in the large hall of the institution on the 26th October.

On the evening of the 26th, Sydney was visited with a tempest of wind, rain, and hail of almost unprecedented violence. Fortunately the storm did not burst over a very large area of ground, otherwise the injuries done by it would have been enormous. Large numbers of gardens have been laid waste, and a considerable amount of property destroyed.

Three tons of quartz, from the prospectors' claim, on the Independent Reef, Ta.,baroora, yielded 303 oz. gold.

On the 26th the commodious building creeted for on the Independent Reef, Tambaroora, yielded 303 or, gold.

On the 26th the commodious building erected for the School of Arts at Camden was opened, a large number of the residents of Camden and its immedia e vicinity being present. The Hon. James Masarthur, of Camden Park, delivered the inaugural address. The Hon. the Premier and several other influential gentlemen also attended.

The monthly meeting of the Acclimatisation Society of New South Wales was held on the 29th, at the School of Arts, Pitt-street. Dr. a Beckett occupied the chair. Papers were read by Dr. Bennett on the rearing of Theosants; on Colonial Timber; by Mr. C. Moore on the Garcina Mangostana, and from Mr. G. Krefft, on birds protected by the Game Act.

The Annual Statistical Register of New Zealand has just been published. The advance of the colony has lately been very rapid—more rapid, proportionally, than that of any any other colony but Queensland. At the present time the population may be safely counted at 200,000, exclusive of Maories and military. Less than ten years ago, New Zealand ranked fourth in importance in the last of Australasian colonies; it now ranks third. This result is due to the attraction of gold. The total value of the gold exported in 1855 was £2,226,474. The value of the wool exported was £1,141,760. The revenue for 1865 amounted to £935,945, an increase of nearly 15 per cent. on the previous year.

The Melbourne Age of the 21st ultimo reports, that at the Council Meeting of the Victorian Acclimatisation Society held the previous day, Mr. Morton Allport, one of the Tasmanian Salmon Commissioners, was present, and exhibited a fine young salmon smelt of about eight inches long, which had been caught at Newtown Rivulet. Great pleasure was expressed by the Council at such a gratifying proof of the reality of acclimatisation.

The Melbourne Herald states that Mr. Swift has recently proved, on the east coast of Tasmania, a very good seam of coal, four feet four inches in thickness, the character of which is first-rate for steam and housekold purposes. It is somewhat similar to the cannel coal, burns with great flame, and is found at a depth of 125 feet from the surface, while the seam is situated only three-quarters of a mile from where coal can be shipped. It can be delivered into ships at a cost not exceeding 6s. per ton. A company is in course of formation to work the mine.

The Garden or N. S. Wales. – The Kieme Independent of 29th ultime states that the present season has been in some respects rather a singular one. The winter was by no means so dry as that portion of the year sometimes is; nor has any very prolonged interval of time occurred during the spring or early summer, without the fall of abowers more or less copious. But the rath has one each occasion except the last been so pursistantly followed by heavy winds, that the state of the district has been very fallen without (as yel) the unwelcome sequel which might intertails their effect, and as symptome of rain are all visible, we may hope that the state of our district will thority be such as to give full meaning to the appellation of the garden of N. S. Wales, as applied to Hawarra.

Shockino Accombr.—Wednesday's I ras Churier mays:
—News reacked town by the mail from Goulbarn yesterday wening of a dreadful socident that had occurred to a person named Slater, and his wife, who, we understand, were residents of Fairyhole Creek, a few miles from Yass. Slater appears to have had charge of a dray laden with sugar, and drawn by eight horses. At the time the mailtann passed, shortly after one o'clock, the team was on Little Rasorback, about four miles from Gunning; there were then only five horses in the dray, the remainder having apparently made their escape. Slater was found in an inscendible state, lying on the road with both his legs broken, and his wife a hundred yards nearer, in the direction of Yass, with one of her legs broken, and with the lose of one of her eyes. It is supposed that in descending Little Rasorback the horses started off, and that Slater, who, it is probable, had been riding at the time, jumped off, and in doing so tripped, falling at the time under the wheel. His wife, very probably, attempted to make an exape at some other part of the dray, and met with the accident we have described. W

DEATH IN THE HOSPITAL—On Monday last William Oriffin, of Ballalab, died of cancer in the stomach, in the Braidwood Hospital, in which institution he had been a patient for the previous eight days. Desceased was vary years of age, and was a very old resident of the district.—Dispatch of Wednesday.

THENDERFORMS.—On Wednesday evening (says the Clarence and Enchmons Examiner) a hoavy thanderstorm, with about half an inch of rain, passed over Grafton. One fisch of lightning struck a large fig tree standing in Mr. Michael's ground, between that goundemen's residence and Mr. Donaldson's. The tree was ignited by the stroke and burnt all night, being completed guited. It is still standing, but is not now safe. On Saturday sweeing another thunderstorm, accompanied with a faceo wind and heavy rain, passed over the district. These concenial showers are very welcome to our farmers, and the mains crop at present looks remarkably promoting.

although at least as threatening as ever, is still nothing more than threatening as regards new points of attack. The threatening signs which in my last I noted as being apparent on the frontier of the Waikato, and on the East Coast at Tauranga, do not come as yet to much, but they do not at all diminish.

At Tauranga the quarrel about the confis-cated, or rather the ceded block of land, seems cated, or rather the ceded block of land, seems likely to produce a regular war in that district, and will, I fear, only be ended by a second fight of the same kind as that at Te Ranga (not at the Gete Pah), and the wholesale confiscation of the rebels' land. The Tauranga experiences of the Government have been more calculated than anything else to make them severe towards the rebellious natives. Never in any other case on record was so much leniency shown to the rebels as was shown to them. They were completely prostrated at our feet, and must have accepted any terms at the time, as, poor wretches, they were all but starving, while half their available force had been either killed or wounded in the fight at Te Ranga. The Governor and his advisers thought the prostration area one for showing demence.

The Governor and his advisers thought the opportunity a good one for showing elemency, so they agreed to give back three-fourths of the land, and only to take a fourth part of it as a punishment for their crime, and to reimburse the colony some part of the expense to which it had been put. The natives were all prepared to do even more than this at the time, and said then mould give up the land feasir. On this they would give up the land freely. On this they were fed and petted by the Governor, who supplied them with seeds, and with all sorts of food, until the seed should place them in an independent position. From that time to the present the whole course of events has been one long continued source of trouble. The natives fat, and kicked at all attempts to keep them to their bargain, and at last, when it comes to a survey of the block for purposes of settle-ment and sale, they rise in arms to prevent it. At the date of the latest accounts from Tauranga a collision was imminent, as the natives had advanced to within a few miles of the township, and the militia and a small body of her Majesty's troops were on the eve of marching out to meet them. No doubt, if they await out to meet them. No doubt, if they await an attack, they will find that they were very grievously mistaken in their esti-mation of their own power, and it may be hoped that they will soon find their way to the Chatham Islands to think over their mistakes. The reports from Waikato district still disclose a great deal of anxiety, but there are other things which induce me to think that perhaps they may for the present, at all events, escape The main reason of this opinion is that the Maories seem bent upon again attacking Hawke's Bay, as there is news of a large force having actually penetrated within a short dis-tance of the town of Napier once more. It is said they were only twelve miles off when the latest news left. The force is estimated at 200 men, and is therefore a more formidable body than the last which made this attempt. The militia and volunteers had been called out, and no doubt by this time some nearer acquaintance has been made by these local forces with their unwelcome visitors. No fears need be enter-tained, I believe, of the result in any of these cases, as the colonial and local forces are sure cases, as the colonial and local forces are sure, unless by some extraordinary mismanagement, to maintain just that superiority over their opponents which might be expected from their superior arms and resources. This is quite sufficient, under ordinary cirrcumstances, to ensure a complete vic tory for our people, and such an advantage is in no danger of being thrown away by anything of the pipeclay class of tactics, which have done too much mischief in the colony already. Operations seem rather to languish again at Wanganui, not from any want of energy on the part of the colonial or British forces there, but mply, as it would appear, from the want of any one to fight with. There seems very little doubt indeed, that the report of 200 men of the Wanganui and Taranaki tribes having gone to reinforce the Maori King's forces somewhere else than in their own country is strictly true. Whether they are amongst the invaders of Hawke's Bay or at Kawhia, or gone to the Hawke's Bay or at nawhia, or gone to the East Coast to support the Tauranga natives, does not yet appear; but there seems little doubt that they are no longer in the Wanganui country. The withdrawal of so large a force could have but one effect—that of weakening the rebel force left until it was not in a position to make head against our own. This I suspect the rebel force left until it was not in a position to make head against our own. This, I suspect, is the fact, and I shall feel no surprise if the remnant of Wanganui natives are found coming in and making peace with the Governor with the mutual reservation that it is only to last until the contingent sent to the wars elsewhere comes home again. This, indeed, is the main difficulty to be contended with in stamping out the sakes of this war. The natives have so thoroughly the advantage of the inner line of operations, that they can of course attack any thoroughly the advantage of the inner line of operations, that they can of course attack any place at their pleasure, while we can only with great difficulty follow them up. The only hope of a speedy end of the thing now seems to be that in every such attack they should be so handled as to put an end to the whole thing in a short time by destroying the available force of invaders. The Governor still remains at Wan-

The amount of gold received for coinage at the Branch Mint, during the week ending 30th November, was 13,197 oz. The amount of coin issued during the same period, 51,000 sovereigns.

The indications of a revival in trade have been much more favourable during the past week than they have been during the month. This is attributable chiefly to the partial stop-page of shipments from England, and to advices from the country districts that the incoming harvest will be the largest our farmers have had for several years past.

The discovery of a new gold-field near the Weddin Mountains, reported by the Govern-ment officials to be of large extent, rich prospects, and likely to afford remunerative employment to a large number for three or four years, must give an impulse to business; but as our present stocks of every description of merchandise is large, and the pressure of the last two months rather severe, t will necessarily be a work of time to restore trade to a thoroughly healthy and active state. Nearly all the failures that have occurred may be traced to risky speculations, which, owing in some measure to the panic in London having aroused our banking institutions to the necessity for greater caution, rendered money less plentiful and brought about collapse and ruin. Hardly a house of any old established position has succumbed. The recent crisis has rather improved their position as it will withdraw from competition many who having little or no capital of their own, were, consequently, less careful how they transacted their business. Prior to the departure of the last overland mail the banks lowered their rate of exchange on London to 1 per cent. premium for sixty-day bills. They are buying at 1 per cent. discount.

The Customs receipts for the month of October reached £64,322, or nearly £20,000 in excess of the receipts during October, 1865.

The yield of our gold-fields as indicated by the escort returns, shows that a falling off has taken place during the present year as com-pared with that of last year, the amounts being,

1865, 230,934 oz. ; 1866, 194,937 oz. The heavy losses suffered recently by all who have been importing foreign breadstuffs, and an abundant harvest throughout the colonies, will have the effect of checking our trade with California and Chili, with both of which we have, for two years past, ranked amongst their best customers. The arrivals at this port from California since the departure of last Panama mail have been the Pionnier, Sunshine, Bertha, Woodlands, and Spirit of the Seas. From Chili we have had the William Dixon, Brewster, and Albert William. The Vidette is loading for California, at Newcastle. Freights for coal, both at this port and Newcastle, are 14s. for Valparaiso, and 25s. for San Francisco. Best coals have been sold here during the month, delivered alongside, at 13s. 9d., but 14s. 9d. is now asked. The barque Guiding Star, late Queen Victoria, last from Valparaiso, has been

The Governor still remains at Wanganaii probably in the hope of even now obtaining some kind of submission from the rebels still left there.

Of other news there is very little indeed. Another great fire in Auckland, supposed to be the work of an incendiary, shows the continuance of a state of things which is far from healthy amongst the businesses community there. There has also been a great fire at Christ-church, which appears to have been accidental, but which was very nearly burning down most of the businesses part of the town.

A superior sample of Mounie's is offering at the latter figure: Hennessy's case is firmer. Wince are dull: the recently arrived parcels are being stored for an improved market. Marrian's ale, in small parcels, has been placed at £77s. 6d.; but for a large lot, £7 5s. may be considered a fair price. Allaopp's, in wood, has been quitted at public sale at £6 to £6 2s. 6d.; ditto, in glass, bottled by Priend, 7s. 10d. Bulk stout is almost unsaleable, and bottled is selling at prices which leave a loss to importers; Barclay's stout, bottled by Friend, has been sold as low as 7s. 10d.

The stock and share market is not very brisk, and except for bank stock, sales in most in-stances show a decline. In bank shares, Com-mercials have been seld at £1 advance, and a similar improvement has taken place in Bank of New South Wales shares. Joint Stocks are very firm at £12. Sales of City's have been made at 10 and 91; they are obtainable at the latter rate. Steam shares: A forced sale of A. S. N. Co.'s shares made during the week is reported at 12, being a decline of £3 on previous sales. New Hunter River Co.'s have been done at 11½. Insurance stock continues in little demand, and surance stock continues in little demand, and the only sale made shows a considerable reduction. N. S. Wales Marine were quitted at 2½, and Sydneys at 1½. Australian Gas Light are steady at 11½. Waratah Coal have improved 5s. per share. Peak Downs Copper are 2s. 6d. lower. There has been very little inquiry for Government securities; Queensland Treasury bills due in 1870 at 10t being the colly trans. bills, due in 1870, at 104, being the only trans

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

DESTRUCTION OF ST. ETHEL'S SCHOOLROON BY FIRW.—About half-past 9 on Thursday evening, St. Ethel's School, conducted by Mrs. Balfour, situated in Cross-street, adjoining St. Paul's Parsonage. West Maitland, was discovered to be on fire. The building being mostly of wood, the flames made such rapid progress that it was impossible to save the room, and it was with considerable difficulty that say portion of the school furniture was removed. When the fire was first seen it was raging under an organ belonging to the Rev. J. R. Thackersy, standing at one end of the building. The origin of the fire is at presents mystery, as Mrs. Balfour about half-past 8 walked from the pursonage to the schoolroom to see, as was her usual custom, that it was locked up and secure, and there was then me appearance of fire. Mr. Thackersy estimates his loss at between £700 and £800, being only insured in the Imperial for £400. The fire engine did not make its appearance at the scene of conflagration, much to the surprise of a very large number of persons that had assembled and were rendering what assistance they could, although the church and fire bell gave the usual alarm. It was stated that the firemen refused to attend at any fire until they had been paid some few pounds said to be owing to them from the insurance companies, and which payment had been denied them. It is to be haped that the insurance companies or the Corporation will at once take action in the matter, and establish a well organised fire brigade, so that a large town like West Maitland may depend on the attendance of, at any rate, one fire engine whenever required. As to-day (Friday) is a general holiday, it is not lithly that the inquest will be held before Saturday or Mondey.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

THE season has been very dry for some time past and the crops have more or less suffered; the grass of the dairy farms was perishing fast from the according dry winds and the absence of rais. It was prognosticated by many that we should have a continuous dry season. I am glad, however, to say that there have been two or three breaks in this very dry weather which have cheered up the heart of the farmer. On Thursday evening we had a heavy thunderstorm, with a plentiful supply of rais, the waterholes and tenks being filled in many places. The lightning cas this occasion was very vivid, and the loud thunder quickly reacced de each fissh. The lightning continued for about an heur. Some of the oldest inhabitants say it was the severest storm they have witnessed in this district for twenty years. Last night about 10 o'clock it commenced to rais very steadily, and copious showers fell during the night and following merning. This will be productive of much good, and the fields are already looking quite fresh; vegetation springing up in all directions.

An event which might have unded in a child being starved to death, occurred a few days back. A little girl, eight years of age, the daughter of John Alexander Walsh, of Wingecarribes, left her home on Friday morning, about nineo'clock, to go to Mr. Reid'a, where she was sent on an ernad. She lost her way, having strayed about five miles from her home in the direction of the Macquarie Monnain, where she was found by Mr. Daving strayed about from miles from her home in the direction of the Macquarie Monnain, where she was found by Mr. Daving of amberton, on Saturday, about four c'clock in the afternoon. The child was quite exhausted, having had no food for two days and a night. She had been wandering about in the rain, and would probably have perished from starvation and exposure had it not fortunately happened that Mr. Davis (who was then travelling on a track different to the one be generally need) heard her mouns. Mr. Davis retraced hi

The Sydney Morning Berald.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1866.

It is of great importance to the country that the Municipal Bill should receive the attention of the House, and that it should pass into law with no more alterations than are necessary to remove obvious blemishes. We do not suppose that the measure in its present shape can be regarded as perfect; Indeed, the range of its operation is too limited to meet the wants of the future. A much larger nam-ber of subjects should be within its scope. But perhaps we must consent to receive piecemeal the alterations of a system which even in its most defective and imperfect form has proved of great benefit. There is nothing more important, considered at large, than the muni-cipal principle. It is the only refuge which opens itself for the liberties of mankind. We have reached a point where public freedom is likely to be crushed by centralisation; this is its tendency, inevitable as the grave. The only chance of preserving freedom is by a whiling of the gravers much powers which subdivision of the governmental powers, which reserves to the civic authority the management of its own interests, and keeps alive the public apirit by giving scope for its exercise. What distinctness can be given to an individual or to a small assembly of families in villages or cities in an empire like Russia or France, where everything is centralised, unless those individuals enjoy the advantages of municipal life to govern their local affairs? It will be impossible to have such institutions even in such countries without producing a spirit of freedom—without cultivating the power of debate—without giving a consciousness of interest in the general welfare. This cannot be too strongly general welfare. This cannot be too strongly impressed upon all men who look into faturity with the light of present events. The voice of prudence—the voice of experience—teaches us to hasten municipal action as the check in representative government from the corruption which it seems to generate; and, in governments more despotic, from the domination of a single will making all things subservient to itself.

In colonies it may be said, indeed, that we have not so large a pressure of this necessity upon us. Nevertheless, it is desirable that municipal institutions abouid be co-ordinate with the first movements of every place—that wherever there are a number of families there should be a township—that this township should have the right of municipal organisation —that having it, powers as extensive as possi-ble should be confided to the people themselves, and that they should be allowed to overlook the expenditure of their own money, and the protection of their own local concerns. The functions of a central Government indeed do not cease by the establishment of nunicipalities. So far from this, municipal bodies are often instrumental in assisting the more effectual working of the central Government. They become the medium through which its direct action upon the people may be softened, and by which the equality of its pressure may be distributed. When municipalities are fairly established the guardianship of the public purse will of of the private roads will be committed to them the choice of magistrates, at least under certain limitations and qualifications, may also be confided to them, whenever they have a thorough municipal organisation. It is not intended, in-deed, that municipal institutions shall render the Government indifferent to the local condition of the people, or that they shall have an absolute discretion whether they are to do what ought to be done or no. There are many, indeed, who think that if the Government throw off local action it will have no right to interpose -- but we hope these views will be ultimately cor-rected, and that there will be in the Government the power to overlook—to direct—to assist—and in certain cases to coerce, so that the objects of municipal government shall not be defeated. In England there has been recently brought into operation a Sanitary Act, which takes into account the obligations of Government to see that one set of idle people do not poison another, and that if there be any city in which from the idiosyncrasy of the magistrates, or the apathy of the citizens, dangerous nuisances are tolerated, there is power to come that this principle will be extended to many departments of municipal government. If the Mayor will not keep the peace, the Government will; if the local magistrates will not ment will; if the local magistrates will not administer justice, the Government will have power to interpose, and supersede them. If roads are left in a dangerous state the municipality will be liable to be taxed for money spent in their behalf against their will. These are interferences of Government by which municipal institutions may be made effective—not, as in some interferences. institutions may be made effective—not, as in some instances at present, so absolutely discretional as to deprive the minority of the people of the advantages they ought to enjoy, through the indolence or stupidity of an accidental or temporary majority. In this operation of a proper centralisation, sufficient employment will be given to Ministers of the Crown. It must be conventionally the control of the co to Ministers of the Crown. It must be remem-bered that the difficulties of our Government sered that the dimenties of our Government, already great, are fast increasing through the multiplicity of its operations, and that all the reforms which are suggested or practical are only pulliatives. It is stopping up a hole here and putting on a patch there, but the thing remains substantially the same, because the central Government, acting in everything by means of miscellances, agency, must be the central Government, acting in everything by means of miscellancous agency, must in-evitably be inefficient, corrupt, and wasteful. If the municipal system be fairly launched and universally adopted, the Government will have less temptation as well as less difficulty. There will not, however, be any deficiency of occupa-tion for the most zealous Ministers. The tion for the most sealous ministers. The growth of the community will enlarge the duties of their own proper sphere, and while the branches of labour may be diminished, the breadth and weight of those they have to guide will be constantly increasing. Thus municipal government, instead of giving ultimately an indolent life to Ministers by taking away their principal employment, will only leave them a more perfect and effective exercise of power. These are principles we should wish to see These are principles we should wish to see incorporated in our municipal institutions. Meantime the bill is an important advance towards them, and coming, as it does, from persons who have given the subject special attention, it may be anticipated that it will find favour with the House.

THE late trial of MAIN v. GOLDSBROUGH affords another illustration of the defective nature of the Land Act, and the need of amend ments, and we are bound to add also of the defective administration of the law.

MAIN's case has been before the public for several years. On the one side he has been treated as a victim of squatters' oppression, on the other as a type of the mischievous selector twisting the law to do the maximum injury to the squatter. His case may now be considered as disposed of, for the action he brought against KIRK and GOLDSBEOUGH for trespass has resulted in shewing that he himself is, and has been all along, the trespasser, and this was so clearly shewn that there was not a word to be said in defence of his position.

The point important to the public in the late decision was that which related to the reserves, and their openness to free selection. The great reserves were made by Mr. DEAS TROMSON, and the intention was to have them surveyed and sold for agricultural purposes as the demand seemed to require—an intention which ought to have been more vigorously realised. At that time all leased lands were subject to pre-emptive rights on the part of the lessee, and it was necessary to extinguish this right before the land could be available to the general public. When the Land Bill was under discussion,

When the Land Bill was under discussion, there was a great battle as to whether the reserves should be exempted from the operation of the 19th clause, and it was decided that there should be no formal exemption of then. And yet it turns out that they were practically exempted. For they were exempted from sale under the 7th clause, which restrained conditional purchasers from taking up land on old I runs. These reserves, or at any rate most of them, and certainly the Murray River reserve.

them, and certainly the Murray River reserve, formed part of old runs.

Mr. MARKIN contended that the proclamation issued by Mr. Dras Thomson—the proclamation that originally made these reserves was ab initio illegal as being ultravires, the Govennon having only power to reserve land in this way from sale and not from lease. The objection was sustained. But even if it had not been, it is clear and had avanished been desided that it is clear, and had previously been decided, that the proclamation did not withdraw the land the proclamation did not withdraw the land from lease. It only withdraw it from the operation of the pre-emptive right. The leases remained unaltered, the rent remained the same, the exclusive right to the grass remained the same, the reserves continued to form part of the runs, and were therefore not over the conditional numbers.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT, who presided at the Mr. Justice FAUCETT, who presided at the trial, stated that no question as to the title of free selectors was involved in the termination of Main's case. Certainly not, as to free selectors generally, but as certainly with respect to those who had selected on reserves that formed part of all wins. For every one of those selections of old runs. For every one of those selections is now proved to have been illegal, and the is now proved to have been illegal, and the selectors to have been trespassers. There have been a great many such selections, and those who have made them have good ground for complaint that they were not effectively warned, and were misled into occupying an illegal position. It is for the Government to consider whether in the amended Land Bill that is to be introduced it would be recover to add. introduced it would be proper to add a clause validating all such selections, exclause validating all such selections, ex-cepting, of course, any as to which legal proceedings had been taken. At the commence-ment of the present year most of the old leases lapsed, and they were renewed under conditions which removed the embargo on free selection, and selectors are not are under the selection. and selectors are not now under the same liability to mistake. There is no published return from which we can gather the number of selections that, during the first three years afte selections that, during the first three years after the passing of the Land Act, were taken up illegally on reserves. The information, however, could be easily furnished from the Land Office. The Government owes it to these who have been misled, to put them right as far as possible or the flaw will attach to their titles per petually.

All the details of Main's case have been known to the Government from the first, and pressed upon their attention. For three years Crown tenants have been subjected to illegal intrusion without adequate remedy, and have been put to an expense of six hundred pounds in defending their rights, besides suffering great annoyance and injury. For three years Mark has been left by the silent connivance of the has been left by the silent connivance of the Government to hold his position, only at last to be unseated as having no valid claim to a title. He says that he has spent £600, his antagonists deny that his improvements ever cost £100. But, whatever they cost, he has wasted them, and he has to pay the lawyers into the bargain. So that to him at least free selection before survey has not been an unmitigated blessing. We have heard that he originally made the selection for the purpose of giving annoyance and out of revenge because KIRK and GOLIBERGUTOR'S manager refused to allow him to drive a flock of scabby sheep across allow him to drive a flock of scabby sheep across the run. If this is true we cannot pity him. A squatter would be a fool to allow any one to drive scabby sheep across a clean run, and a man would be something worse who would treat such a refusal as a wrong, and who would set him. a refusal as a wrong, and who would set him self to revenge it.

The inaction of the Government in not notifying to MAIN his untenable position was the more blamable if, as we understand, his forty acres overlapped a pre-emptive claim of 320 acres—a claim since surveyed and granted. Whether MAIN's selection has ever been surveyed does not appear from any of the published correspondence.

It is worth noticing that but for Mr.

It is worth noticing that but for Mr. MARTIN's upsetting of the original proclamation. the granting pre-emptive rights within the limits of the reserve would have been illegal, for that proclamation was supposed to have extinguished the pre-emptive right. As it turns out, the department in granting these claims has not done wrong, but it was not aware of the not done wrong, but it was not aware fact.

These discoveries of illegality are certainly very confusing, and destroy the public confidence in the Government. But it is better that they should be made than that they should remain hidden up too long. Judge Boornsw, in Adelaide, has got into great disgrace with the colonists there for hunting up illegalities, but, really, he rendered a service. If he has such a keen seeat for errors of this sort, it would be worth while to employ him for a few months to oversall our affairs, that we might know the worst,

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

Frame our own commerciance its port, connecting with the new steam line from Panama to New Z-saland, is fast gaining favour here and in other large commercial eities. This additional facility to the aid round-the-world travel was much needed, and it is to be hoped that advantage will be taken of it for the greater interchange of trade, and to extend and strengthen the relations so necessary between communities so widely separated as the United States and the Australias, and which have so many interests in common. A vessel of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's through line leaves here on the 11th of each month, to connect with the steamer from Panama to New Zealand. The character of this company is a guarantee that first-class vessels will be put on the route and the connection with the English steamers punctually made. The Arizon, which leaves this port to-morrow, is well known to travellers on the Pacific side with whom she has been for some time a favourite. Captain Maury is an experienced able seaman, thoroughly conversant with the route, and noted for the promptitude of his arrivals and departures, and the discipline and good order maintained upon his vessel. As the advantages by this route are developed, greater interest will be manifesied in it by the mercantile and shipping men here, and it will not be long before some steps are taken to place the best and swiftest steamers on it, both at this and the other side. Rapid communication is one of the great ideas and triumphs of the age. The successful laying of the Atlantic Cable, after so many difficulties and failures, will not be accepted as a finality, but will prompt rather to other enterprises to expedite commercial intercourse and travel. The establishment of a line of steamers between Panama and New Zealand is a step in this direction that was much needed, though it does not effect all of which it is susceptible, through a more enterprising and liberal spirit. To pass from this topic to affairs here. We are in the midst of our State elections. Xesterday, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Iowa held their elections for members of Congress, and went Republican by large majorities—in some instances in advance of the two previous elections. The greatest interest had been excited in advance of the contest, both parties putting forth all their strength, and stumping and tanvassing their several States with the best much that of Congress, and not restorated in Congress. is all passed now, and Fenianism, or rather the power of Fenianism to endanger the peace of the country, or to put in deadly terror our neighbours on the other side, is dead and gone.

The religious world here is having its time of more than usual interest. There have been Conventions, and Conferences, and Synods held by numerous demoninations. Now, a great "National Council" of the Roman Catholic Church is being held at Baltimore. Twenty-feur prelates are in session, and the papers give glowing accounts of the imposing ceremonies with which the proceedings were inaugurated. The Council will alt two weeks. When the first Council was held here in 1798 there were but fifty priests in the country, now they number 2500. It is expected that a measure will pass the Council to engage with the other denominations in educating the freedmen of the South. Last Sunday, the first day of the meeting of the Council to hear high mass in the Cathedral in the ancient see of Baltimore, the Roman Catholic Cathedral in this city,—old St. Patrick's—was burned to the ground. It was an ancient landmark in a very populous, but now unristocratic portion of the city. Built many years ago, it had no architectural pretensions to beauty, but to the devout it was a sacred spot, containing, as it did, the remains of three holy men, according to simple faith—the remains of three Arch-bishops. The cathedral root, which was of wood, was ignited by sparks and burning pieces of timber from a fire not far distant, and before the firemen could be withdrawn from battling the fire in another quarter, the cathedral was beyond their efforts to save it. All the costly apparel, ornaments, pictures, and vessels of the church were destroyed. The foundations of a cathedral, to be erected in character with the wealth and devotion of the people, were laid several years ago, but very little progress has been made, the work on it being suspended for a considerable time past. Some experiments, however, made at Fortress Monro were highly in favour of earthworks over stone; and for the erection of the former your harbour offers every facility. In my next letter I may be able to give you some information from the report referred to on the point.

Since my last the Atlantic has been visited by a most terrific and extensive hurrieone, which has occasioned several casualties, the most important of which are as follows:—

LOSS OF THE STRAMSHIP EVENING STAR.

DIRASTER TO THE STRANSHIP SANTIAGO DE CUMA. The attenter Santiage de Cuba put back to this port on Sunday last, October 6th. She asiled from this on the 29th September, bound for Greytown. She had on board 500 passengers. On Tuesday, October 22nd, she encountered violent south-cast gales, which rose on Wednesday to a perfect hurricane. The seas are described as having been awful in the extreme, so much so that old seamen attested that for more than thirty years nothing similar had been witnessed. The sea carried away two passengers and two of the crew. Other casualities are reported, among which I might mention the British steamer Queen Victoria and the steamship Andrew Johnson.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON AND CONORES.

Washington, October 10.

The President has just sent in to the Attorney-General the following questions, and requested that a response to them be returned in writing:—

First—Is the present Congress, composed of members from Northern States alone, such a Congress as the Constitution requires, or is it an illegal and unconstitutional assemblage:

Second—Would existing circumstances justify the President in sending his next annual message to an illegal and unconstitutional assemblage pretending to be the Congress of the United States:

FENIANISM.

The Fenian scare in Canada is subsiding, but the Canadian authorities nevertheless continue to make warlike preparations. Head Centre Stephens and Precident Roberts continue to agitate the Fenian cause, though they are still at loggerheads with each other. The Head Centre is now making rapid headway into the hearts and purses of the brotherhood and sisterhood, but if he does not hurry up and speedily inaugurate the war in Ireland, he will hardly fulfil his promise of "commencing this year," and then the whole order will be down upon him again.

THE FENIAN PRISONERS.

Col. Thomas D. Kelly and Captain John Cafferty waited on the President on Oct. 7 and laid before him the case of certain naturalized citizens still held as prisoners in Ireland by the Government of Great Britain on suspicion of complicity in Fenian revolutionary measures, together with the resolutions recently adopted at a meeting held in New York, making an appeal in their behalf, and asserting "that the honour and dignity of the United States, have been seriously compromised in our foreign relations by those having charge of them, both at hemes and abroad, and asking that Minister Adams, and Consuls West, at Dublin, and Eastmann, at Cork, be immediately recalled, for having, as the resolutions assert, "acquiesced in the declared doctrine of England, that subjects of that country could not throw off their allegiance to that despotic Power by assuming the duties and status of United States citizens. The President received the delegates with courtesy, but it seems that the interview was not satisfactory to the delegation.

Another turrible battle has been fought in Abyasinia between the army of Theodore, King of Abyasinia, and the insurgents of Tigre and Chao. Theodore seems to have had the worst of it. His losses were 23,000 deed and 18,000 wounded. Among the Tigrean deed were recognized several Egyptians and some English faces, especially in the fort. No doubt but that the offices of that nation directed all the evolutions of the battle. Theodore having recognized the hand of the English on the side of the insurgents, and attributing the failure to that intervention, had had a fit of fury of which none around him remembered to have seen the like, and which, anys the letter, made the whole army tremble. In his exasperation he ordered the immediate execution of all the English captives, sparing only the weenen and children.

CONTINENTAL AFFAIRS

The letters of our Paris Correspondent in some of our late numbers allude to the disquieted state of the public mind in Belgium and Switzerland, occusioned by annexation schemes imputed to the French in conspiracy with the Prussian Government. The sound of alarm has been for several days going the round of the European Press, set up, in all probability, and spread by irresponsible persons, who give themselves no trouble to reflect on the dangerous consequences of raising a "a mad-dog" cry. It is hard for the best of men to beer up against un relenting mistrust, to practise virtues for which they can get no credit, to have invariably the worst construction put upon all their words and deeds. The constant repetition of the same unfounded charge will end by familiarising certain minds with designs. struction put upon all their words and deeds. The constant repetition of the same unfounded charge will end by lamiliarising certain miade with designathey might never etherwise have dared to away to themselves. It is quite possible to worry a man till he is as black as he is painted, and mere suspicion acts often as a suggestion of evil. A house on fire in a crowded thoroughfare will naturally throw consternation smid the denizens of a whole neighbourheed; and the extinction of so many kingdoms, principalities, and free cities, as the world has lately witnessed, has given enough to think of to some of those minor European communities which have hitherto been living on sufferance, dependent on the precarious support of the public law and the faith of treaties.

are carefully concented till they come to maturity; and if he thought he could parify French lealousy by hinting that in case of need he could make as free with other people's goods as Bismark has done, he would still have to prove how Belgium and half Switzerland could be sufficient to counterbalance the immense progress issule by Prussia in Gormany, or how, upon his laying hold of his own slice of Swiss and Netherlandish territories, he could prevent Bismark's further advance upon Holland and the German cantons. Prassia would, in this annexation race, visibly have stolen a march upon France, and it would behove this latter, as she eculd not outdo the other in greed, to aspire to the glory of magnanimity and disinterestedness.

Public law in Europe, such as it was, is shaken to its foundation, and the last seven years have brought about portentous changes. Discrowsed menarchs are wandering about by the score, and the roll of independent States has dwindled to the shortest span. Still we question whether that opinion, which, after all, is the true law of nations, has lost much of its ancient force. A truly independent State, springing from legitimate sources, and grounded on real popular suffrage, ought to die somewhat harder than Hanover, Hesse, or Savony, or any other of the petty communities that have lately been swept from the face of the earth. A plot against Switzerland between France, Prussia, and Italy would, no doubt, leave but little chambe for the weaker party, were even even viruan in the Confideracy to display all the heroism of Arnold Winkelmod. But Switzerland would hold her own against all odds, nevertheless, and it is by putting her existence to this test of blood under any circumstances that a country proves her titles to her proud position, and disarms the most deliberate malice.

People forgot "Ae merits of the policy he advocated in considering the faults of the man; while the President immedi, surrounded constantly by hosts of the multitude, continued the suicidal course of the resident was in his worst position, and that 'act, with the defection of the Fenians, gave the Ras scales a clear gain of 7000 in that State, enough to despen the most ardent Conservative. Then the New Fork Heraid, the great political weathercock of the United States, made a desterous somersault, and from herce Conservatives became intensely Radical. Prudent men gave up the contest, for the elections are too near to hope for another change in the popular mind, and the Conservatives are labouring with all the weakness that is inspired by the feeling that they are to be defeated. A Radical victory now will be the end of the President's policy, for it gives them control over more than two-thirds of each House of Congress for the balance of his Administration, and they can successfully carry their measures, even over his veto. So far as any prophecies based upon the present aspect of affairs can be given, it now appears as if the autumn elections would show every Northern State to be Radical by even increased majorities over 1865.

The Concennati Guestie, a Western journal of large influence, that at first seemed disposed to support the President, but now is against him, recently printed a short article defining its views, which may be taken as the opinion of that large class of mederate Republicans whom the President might have had to support him had his course been a prudent one. The Commercial says among other things:

To effect my cherished object in all its details still needs many more—all of which, although involving much tabuty. I am quite ready to afford; but beyond the promised letter. I med the public ear, guited only by tangible facts, and rwid of the inschings of the history of my subject, for that is antagenistic to it. And here I must remark, that having been for many years a tropical planter, my education as such, in many respects, proves that it is is snappicable to the planter's duties in New South Welse.

I was always conceitous of the incubus under which I laboured in propounding my discovery; the history of the industry, and the varied guides open to the instillaguat and e-belastic community, all of which were antagensistic to it, and for so many years rendered me poweriess for good; until the penetrative intellect of my respected friend at kiama, nated in the preceding part of this letter, took me by the hand. If may not be deemed unimportant ito state that G. L. has no connection with any other business house in Sydney.

MANNIX, BROTHERS, Practical Tailors, 109, M. King-street, invite the attention of the public to an impection of our unprecedentedly large stock of Woollens and Seasonable Goods in every variety of colour and teature, which we are now making up cheaper than can be had at any other house in the colony.

To the working man MANNIX, BROTHERS, offer inestimable advantages, as he can procure from them a first-rate article, made to order, at a less price than he has to pay for elop goods of inferior quality and workmanship. The business being carried on entirely under our own centrol and supervision on the premises; and our employing none but the most experienced workmen are sufficient guarantee that every garment made at our cetablishment will be found unexceptionable as regards style, fit, and workmanship.

In conclusion, MANNIX, BROTHERS, beg to assure their patrons and the public generally that they will relax me effort to assiduously maintain the high prestige they have acquired since their commencement in business, and confidently recommend their establishment as being the chesspect house in the colony for first-class work.

Also,

1200 head of cattle (mere or less).

A mixed herd of superior description.

To be mustered and feilvered, calves under 6 months old at time of delivery, to be given in.

There are a number of first-class Bulls, and ne expense has been spared in improving the herd, which is considered really good.

Team of 10 working bullocks, dray, gear, cart harman, 3 draught horses, 14 stock horses, 7 nubroken horses, household furniture, stores, working goar, and sundries, to be taken at a valuation.

The improvements are as follows—

Four-roomed cottage, boarded floors, galvanised from roof; four-roomed kitchen, boarded and shingled; store, containing two rooms, shingled; cellar; conch-house; stable; garden, well stocked with vines and fruit trees; stock yards, capable of working 2000 head of cattle; milking and killing yards; horse yards; paddock, about eighty acres, broed, and well watered; woolshed, and sufficient out-stations for a large number of aheep.

This compact station is placed in the market for absolute sale, and the fattening qualities, with the superior grazing capabilities of the run, and the general excellence of the stock, are a well and favourably known that special comment is utterly unnecessary.

The whole of the fat stock have, for a considerable period, realised extreme market rates, delivered on the station, Walgett being the principal rendeavour for the Victorian and Adelalée cattle-dealers.

THE Undersigned will sell by public auction (if not previously disposed of by private sale), on the 6th Boomber next,

Those splendid blocks of fattening country on the Booms Hermitage plains, A No. 2 and V, comprising an area of 120,000 acres of chiefly mysal and salt bask country, and on which an extensive dam has been constructed and well smit, both of which contain as abundant supply of excellent water.

E. DAYIS has much pleasure in amouncing to the ladies and inhabitants of Sydney and neighbourhood, that on TUESDAY next he intends re-opening the above well-shown Basar upon the site of his old premises, which were destroyed by fire, but upon which has since been erected a magnificent suite of buildings, one of the most complete Fancy Bazars in the Southern Hemisphere.

It has for many years been generally acknowledged by the Ladies of Sydney that the choicest goods ware ever to be found at the Civet Cat, hence the large chair of partonage bestowed for many years upon that establishment prior to its destruction, with a view, therefore, of kteping up that proud acknowledgment, E. D. has spared no expenseduring the past twelve months that his premises have been building, in importing direct from the best English and Continental Houses all the latest novelifier in Fance Bijuuterie and Toys that have been produced, and he unhesitatingly asserts that he has now the obloicest and best selected stock out of the Kinglish or Freach metropolis.

E. D. Prespectfully solicits a visit of inspection from all his old and present patrons to the well-known Civet Cat, where will be found a truly magnificent assertment of all classes of goods suitable for Christmas and New Year's Gifts, at prices that challenge competition, he being determined not only that his Bazaar should be known as outstaining the choicest goods, but that he also select the changes.

E. DAVIS has been specially anxious for the juvenile friends and customers, and has provided for the approaching feative and presentation easeen every notive that can please the eye or amuse the young mind.

To enumerate his stock would be beyond the limits of an advertisement, but as some description is necessary, he would respectfully mention a few out of the numersus list of imp
